

“Williamson Medical Center has a welcoming work environment that provides opportunities to collaborate with other healthcare professionals on a day-to-day basis to directly impact our patients' care. Physicians and other healthcare professionals value the pharmacist's input into formulating patient-specific care plans, which is encouraging as a pharmacy resident; the working relationship between the pharmacy and other providers facilitates a wonderful, but challenging, environment for me to expand on my learning by incorporating the skills of other healthcare disciplines. The program is designed to allow residents to personalize the schedule to line up with their interests, making it the perfect opportunity to strengthen knowledge in an area of interest or become more proficient in an area in which one has less experience. In addition to the opportunities to grow as a clinical pharmacist, Williamson's residency program allows me to enhance my skills as a preceptor; I value the ability to obtain a teaching certificate as well as a precepting-focused rotation as I hope to help shape future pharmacists during my career.”

“Williamson Medical Center is a welcoming learning environment that allows for personal and professional growth through collaboration with experienced pharmacists, physicians, nurses, and staff. As a native of Franklin, I have always known Williamson as a hospital that provides high quality patient care to meet the needs of the community. Now as a pharmacy resident, I have been able to personally experience this feeling of connection within the community and the common goal amongst practitioners to provide excellent care to each and every patient. Residents are encouraged to tailor your schedule in order to explore different areas of interest. This customizability allows you to improve on your areas of weakness and continue to expand on your strengths under the support and guidance of the team. The residency program emphasizes wellness and is structured to help residents develop as a clinician, team member, and leader. I am confident that my time at Williamson will prepare me for the steps beyond residency.”
